| WSC 2014-2015, Conference 16          |
|---------------------------------------|
| Case 1. Tissue from a fish (cichlid). |
| MICROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION:              |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
|                                       |
| MORRIJOLOGIC DIA CNICCIC.             |
| MORPHOLOGIC DIAGNOSIS:                |
| CAUSE:                                |
|                                       |

| Case 2. Tissue from a fish. |  |  |
|-----------------------------|--|--|
| MICROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION:    |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
| MORPHOLOGIC DIAGNOSIS:      |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
|                             |  |  |
| CAUSE:                      |  |  |
|                             |  |  |

WSC 2015-2015, Conference 16

| WSC 2015-2015, Conference 16 |
|------------------------------|
| Case 3. Tissue from a frog.  |
| MICROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION:     |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
| MORPHOLOGIC DIAGNOSIS:       |
|                              |
| CAISE:                       |
|                              |
|                              |

| WSC 2015-2015, Conference 16    |
|---------------------------------|
| Case 4. Tissue from a seahorse. |
| MICROSCOPIC DESCRIPTION:        |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
|                                 |
| MORPHOLOGIC DIAGNOSIS:          |
|                                 |
|                                 |
| NAME THE CONDITION:             |